We are grateful for the fact that you have considered Simple Cremation Online. We all begin at different places in our thinking about cremation options. All too often, it is only when faced with a loss of some kind that we think seriously about our own mortality. The unexpected loss of a loved one. The imminent death of a friend. Our own health.

For some, this is a straight forward and practical matter. For most of us, planning a funeral is uneasy territory. You may even discover that what feels appropriate for you personally differs significantly from what you can embrace for someone you love.

The emotions that attend these decisions are worthy of discussion with those closest to you. Your family or the friends upon whom you will depend to honor your wishes have an emotional stake in knowing what you intend and why it is important to you.

This price list provides basic price information about many different options — all of which are appropriate for certain people, but not all. We at Simple Cremation Online offer it as a place to start the beginning of a conversation.

Please allow us to help you in your decision making process. We promise you prompt responses. Thoughtful answers. Sound advice.

Sincerely, The Staff at Simple Cremation Online.
